An Ugly Duckling tale about belonging.

THE SPECKLED DUCKLING

An Ugly Duckling tale about belonging.

Why do I look like a puzzle with extra pieces?

Puzzles are cooler with surprise pieces.

THE SPECKLED DUCKLING

My zig is still learning its zag.

You swim zig-zag!

THE SPECKLED DUCKLING

An Ugly Duckling tale about belonging.

Speck:
“Fashion disaster...
or pond royalty?”

Reed:
“Royalty.
Definitely royalty.”

Speck: "Maybe I don't belong here."

Elder: "Different feathers are still pond family."

Speck: "Even speckles?"

Elder: "Especially speckles."

THE SPECKLED DUCKLING

An Ugly Duckling tale about belonging.

Reed:
"You're becoming...
wow."

Speck:
"I'm becoming me.
That's the wow."

THE SPECKLED DUCKLING

An Ugly Duckling tale about belonging.

Kid 2:
"Want to lead the splash parade?"

Speck:
"Only if zig-zag is allowed."

THE SPECKLED DUCKLING

An Ugly Duckling tale about belonging.

Elder: "Growing different
still means you belong."

Speck: "I didn't need to copy —
I needed to keep going."

Reed: "And keep your lily
crown for parties."

THE END

Growing different still means you belong.
